BOY SCOUTS

(Conducted by National Council of the Boy Scouts of America.)

SCOUT AID ON "FOOL HILL"

Someone has said that the Boy Scout movement is the best thing ever invented to help get a boy over "Fool Hill." There is a time in a boy's life, and from twelve to eighteen years is the period, when "Fool Hill" generally makes its advent and is most conspicuous.

During this period scouting furnishes the guide posts. We all know that boys like to run in gangs. The scout troop fills the boy's natural desire for companionship.

Take such a gang or troop and divert its energy from breaking windows, robbing orchards, fighting other boys and similar mischief to swimming, first aid, boating, camping, hiking, scoutcraft and the like, and you are converting natural energy into a valuable asset, giving the boy a desire for useful information and making of him a potential citizen whose value to the country is beyond estimate.

DAN BEARD TO THE SCOUTS.

President Wilson has told the boy scouts to locate all the black walnut trees and also to save all the peach stones and nut shells we can, says Scout Commissioner Dan Beard. That is easy, but look here, boys, don't forget what the chief told you about planting nuts. November is the time to plant walnuts, hickory nuts and butternuts.

Let us emulate the example of dear old Johnny Appleseed, the old pioneer who planted apple trees all through the western wilderness of the Ohio valley. Johnny has monuments standing to him still in some of the apple trees which he planted a good many years ago.

We will have monuments standing for us in magnificent big black walnut trees, hickory nut trees and butternut trees which we are thoughtful enough to plant this autumn before all the big walnut trees are cut down and the plant exterminated in order to furnish gun stocks and propellers for our flying machines.

Don't forget now, boys, each scout should plant at least five black walnuts.

SIGN TALK FOR BOY SCOUTS.

Ernest Thompson Seton describes his new book "Sign Talk" as "a universal signal code without apparatus, for use in the army, navy, camping, hunting and daily life."

Resides giving 1,200 signs in use among the Plains Indians, Mr. Seton adds some of those used by the deaf in Europe and America, and also a great many that all of us use in everyday life, often without realizing it.

The American Plains Indian is undoubtedly the best sign talker the world knows today. Mr. Seton carried his manuscript from one Indian tribe to another, seeking always the best sign talkers among them, verifying his work and collecting new signs, always from first hand sources. Mr. Seton further interprets the sign talk with seven hundred drawings from his own pen. General Hugh L. Scott helped in the work of compilation.

TROOP MEET WITHOUT JOLTS.

Anyone who has driven over corduroy roads in a lumber wagon has observed that it is less comfortable than driving a high-class touring car over asphalt pavements.

A scoutmaster who has attempted to lead a poorly organized troop through a crudely planned meeting, hike, or camp, has had a jolting which he might have avoided by laying out his course with greater skill.

A troop meeting may be as full of bumps as a corduroy road or it may work as smoothly as the drive that flattened the St. Michel salient. It depends upon the plan and the man behind it.

BELGIAN SCOUTS REBUILDING.

The Boy Scouts of Belgium are working to help rebuild their stricken homes and cities. Robert Lutens, secretary of the Belgian Boy Scouts' organization, who reached an Atlantic port on a British liner, brought the story.

"There were 6,000 of the boys in our organization just before the war," he said. "Many were killed brutally by the Germans in that ghastly first month."

"They were shot down when they served as stretcher bearers, and they were shot on other occasions without the slightest provocation. We have got the survivors together and they are trained for the reconstruction work."

DOINGS OF THE BOY SCOUTS.

Forty boy scouts were employed at the government proving grounds at Camp Perry, near Clinton, O., all summer. The smaller boys were store boys, errand boys, etc.

In Springfield, Mass., the city had great difficulty, because of the labor shortage, in keeping leaves out of wells and sewer catch basins during rainy days, and suggested that the boy scouts, who have shown their public spirit frequently, would be of material assistance in this work.

The Speaker of the British House of Commons is obliged by custom to give seven official dinners each season to the members of Parliament.

JOYS OF PEACE.

How pleasant it is to go back to the little ways of peace. One can idle an hour or two away with a frivolous book and do it with a clear conscience, without a substratum of thought running through the mind that we should be actively up and going, engaged in one of the innumerable ways of winning the war. One can drift into a playhouse and watch a musical comedy's mild amblings and let the ear be titillated with light tunes without feeling that perhaps it is not just the thing to do in days of darkness and sorrow. The lights—the bright, white, reassuring lights—are there again before the theater, telling us that fuel economy is no longer imperative, that evenings after a full day's labor can again be spent idly and luxuriously, says Collier's Weekly. One can even invest an idle dollar in a box of chocolates because one feels that sugar saving is no longer quite so necessary. These, of course, are days of reaction. Soon we will return to the sternest things. We will worry about the league of nations and the freedom of the seas; we will be preoccupied with the problems of reconstruction. But a little full has insidiously placed itself between the grave days that are gone and the busy days that are to come. And this little full, we find, is welcome and a thing to be cherished.

A very eloquent Frenchman, Ambassador Jusserand, has paid this handsome tribute to the American army in France: "A valiant army, the praise of which is on every lip; a youthful, undisciplined, cheerful army, whose every soldier is welcome in castle or hut, and is offered just as heartily the best cake or the last crust; an immense army that grows ceaselessly—month after month you sent over double the number of men Napoleon had at Waterloo. Many French names written on your map recall our presence here at the time of your fight for independence, chief among them that of Lafayette. Many American names will in aftertime recall the splendid part you are taking in the deliverance of France and of the world."

For Burning Eczema

Greasy salves and ointments should not be applied to the skin. Zemo is wanted. From any druggist for 35c, or $1.00 for large size, get a bottle of Zemo. When applied as directed it effectively removes eczema, quickly stops itching, and heals skin troubles, also sores, burns, wounds and chafing. It penetrates, cleanses and soothes. Zemo is a clean, dependable and inexpensive antiseptic liquid. Try it, as we believe nothing you have ever used is as effective and satisfying.

SCOUTS A NATIONAL FACTOR.

"War has certainly brought to the boy scout movement great opportunities," says Milton A. McRae of San Diego, Cal. "We have had some loss, but I believe a much greater gain, and the publicity that the movement is receiving in America is a wonderful asset, and really beyond comprehension."

"I marched for two and a half miles in a great parade at the head of the San Diego council and the boy scouts, and I am certain that I did not misinterpret the cheers and plaudits of the thousands of spectators who lined the streets while the procession passed by. The boy scout movement is a factor in this nation."

HIS LIFE'S OUTLOOK HAS BRIGHTER HUE

Arthur Miller, of Drexel Hill, a suburb of Philadelphia says he is a real optimist now, and that his outlook on life is brighter than ever. "I suffered from stomach trouble. The gas would accumulate around my liver and heart. Occasionally I would have sharp twinges of rheumatism in the joints and muscles of my legs and shoulders. There was considerable belching of gas and a water brash. A sour, acid stomach manifested itself in an ugly, dark brown taste, like bile. I bought Tanlac because I heard about the good it did others. Tanlac helped me from the start."

The genuine J. I. Gore Co. Tanlac is sold here by Stewart Drug Co. and Woodward & McPherson.

AMERICA'S IMMORTALS

FREDERICK M. LINTON, First Lieutenant, 104th Infantry.

Conspicuous gallantry in action near Marechville, France, September 25 and 26 won the Distinguished Service Cross for Lieutenant Linton. He volunteered and carried a message from his line to the rear at a time when a heavy barrage and terrific machine gun fire of the enemy had made access almost impossible. When returning he brought up with him a platoon of reinforcements and led them through the bombardment area, knowing that the town of Marechville was in the hands of the enemy, he unhesitatingly assumed the command of a patrol and led it in a counter-attack against the town, recapturing it, and after being wounded retained control and held his ground until his platoon was rescued under cover of darkness. It was while defending his position that he received a second and fatal wound.

SAGE TEA DANDY TO DARKEN HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost overnight if you'll get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful. This is the age of youth. Gray hair, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound tonight and you'll be delighted with your youthful appearance within a few days.

At one time in Switzerland eggs were used as money and dried cod were used for the same purpose in Newfoundland.

HURRY-UP DISHES

The housekeeper who keeps a list of dishes that may be quickly prepared for a sudden emergency, one who is not startled or flustered by a large party company and who is much more welcome if in the kitchen than in the dining room, has a valuable menu is stored. The food served will depend upon the time of day. If it is dinner a more elaborate menu will be needed than for a luncheon or supper.

Try not to use dishes for these occasions for the daily menu, but keep them just for the emergency. Provided you are sure of proper results, it is fatal to one's peace of mind to experiment on an unusual dish. Keep in your closet or on the emergency shelf such foods as canned codfish, sardines, canned salmon, tuna, crab and clams, canned tomatoes, soup, grated cheese, salad dressing, preserves, dates, nuts and marshmallows. This list could be enlarged indefinitely and other attractive things may be added.

An omelet is a dish generally well liked; it may be preceded by a cream of tomato soup, which is easily prepared and followed by a potato salad if one is fortunate enough to have a few cold potatoes on hand. If not, cook a few, cut in dice and serve in a cream sauce. A cup of tea with a cookie or piece of cake and a dish of preserves for dessert will make a most satisfying meal.

The canned soup, of course, is quickly reheated and saves preparing one dish; a salad of the solid part of the can of tomatoes with a bit of salmon or tuna will make a salad with a good dressing. A bit of pineapple with marshmallows and whipped cream with a tablespoon of most delicious sweet salad dressing may be served with wafers, or a bit of coconut or coffee as a dessert. A pretty table, with a few cooked dishes and a heavy sauce will make a feast for any guest.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to keep young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no other way. A sallow complexion—dark circles under your eyes—plagues—these are the signs of a clogged liver and bowels. Your doctor will tell you that 90 per cent of all sickness comes from a clogged liver and bowels.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in action yet always effective. They are about the exuberance of youth, natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by keeping the liver and bowels clear of the system of poisons.

You will know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets by their olive color. 25c per box. All druggists.

The WOMEN have Always Helped— God Bless Them!

We reverence the spirit of America's womanhood. The Bonds they bought were precious, sacred things to them. They felt that every Bond was silent, material proof that they could fight too.

And how they have kept the faith! How they have given their boys, their husbands, their brothers!

How they have sold Bonds and how they have bought them!

And now that the Victory Liberty Loan has come, they will work and save once more.

And let every last man stand shoulder to shoulder with these women and see that the Victory debt is paid.

THE CLEARFIELD PROGRESS

The Coming World Ruler

By REV. B. B. SUTCLIFFE
Extension Department, Moody Bible
Institute, Chicago

TEXT—The government shall be upon
his shoulder.—Isa. 9:6.

The One mentioned in the text is none other than the coming Prince of Peace, the King of kings and the Lord of lords, Jesus Christ, who is to be the ruler of this world and who will reign as King. The ancient idea that a king was the patriarchal father, friend and guardian of his people pertains to this Coming King. There are four marks of his kingship.

I.—He has absolute authority. There is no such thing as limited monarchy, much less democracy, about the kingship of this Coming One. He will be no mere figurehead, as some of the kings of our day. The second chapter of this prophet Isaiah declares he will judge between the nations. All international questions will in his day be referred to him and from his decisions there will be no appeal. This is in accord with the ancient idea of kingship, but with the difference that where other kings were subject to error and made mistakes there will be no errors or mistakes in the exercise of authority by the Prince of Peace. Ruling in the supreme authority given him by God and ruling with the glory of God as the one motive of all his acts, there will come under this beneficent king the full blessedness on earth for which man has waited so long.

II.—He will have supreme power. There have been and there are today kings who have authority but lack the power to exercise it. This Coming One will have all power for the full and proper exercise of his authority. None will be able to turn him aside from his decrees, nor will any be able to make his decrees null and void. Even some who will be disposed to resist his authority will, because of his power, bow to his decrees. Ruling as he will, wholly for the glory of God, means that all selfish exercise of power will be done away, and those who would feather their own nests by oppression will find their occupation gone. This would cause war to be heard were it not that this ruler has all power to enforce his decrees. As all his decrees are calculated to bring supreme blessing to all men it is little wonder that his coming is awaited by many with eagerness and delight.

III.—He will provide certain protection. The ancient king was charged with the guardianship of his people, who looked to him to guard them from their enemies. This Coming King will afford such protection for his own that none will make them afraid, but all will dwell in security and peace. In his day every man will dwell under his own vine and fig tree, no oppression of the weak will be found, and no unfair advantage whereby one may grow rich at the expense of another will be allowed throughout the world. Men will then have a chance to come to his full development, with no fear of sudden destruction of himself or of his plans. There will be protection from wars and rumors of war, protection from the criminal and the lawless, and protection from all evil save only that which individual men and women will desire to carry within themselves. Certain protection will be afforded by the unlimited power and absolute authority of the Coming King against all the machinations of evil and the wickedness of men.

IV.—He will bring full provision for his people. The ancient king was looked to by his people to provide all necessary provision, and his people's needs were his sacred charge. Like a father he was supposed to provide for his own people as though they were his children. So this One who is coming will provide for his own all things required to make contentment the rule throughout the world. In his reign the waste places will bring forth, the wilderness will blossom as the rose and the dry lands will become fruitful fields. The cry of hunger will never be heard and famine will only be remembered as a nightmare of days gone by. With fullness of bread there will be the full knowledge of the Lord, for his knowledge will cover the earth as the waters cover the sea.

In the midst of all the strife and suffering of today the above sounds like a dream impossible of fulfillment. But the word of the Lord has declared it, and his word is settled forever in heaven. Every jot and every tittle of what he has written is sure of full realization, and the signs of the times give every encouragement that the coming of the Great King is not far off. In the midst of the distress of nations and the fear of what is coming on the earth, it is well to comfort our hearts with the assurance that in God's good time he will bring forth his king, who will give to all the tangled threads of life and all the chaotic conditions of the world a divine order and a blessed rule for all peoples.

MANY CASES OF RHEUMATISM NOW

Says We Must Keep Feet Dry.
Avoid Exposure and Eat Less Meat

Stay off the damp ground, avoid exposure, keep feet dry, eat less meat, drink lots of water and above all take a spoonful of salts occasionally to keep down uric acid. Rheumatism is caused by poisonous toxin, called uric acid, which is generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood and sent out in the urine. The pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles causing stiffness, soreness and pain, called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action thus ridding the blood of these impurities. Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS CURWENSVILLE

Pike township school board held a meeting Saturday afternoon and transacted considerable business.

Nearly one hundred and fifty Odd Fellows attended the M. E. church Sunday forenoon and listened to a specially prepared sermon for them by Rev. Biddle. Once a year this body attends church in a body.

Mr. J. G. Fullerton underwent a successful operation at the McGirk Sanitarium Philipsburg last Thursday.

Mrs. Walter Fullerton was a Clearfield visitor yesterday.

Chief Clark picked up a young colored girl Saturday for passing raised bills on several of our merchants. She caught several of them but in making good the money she obtained fraudulently she was released from custody and allowed to depart.

Mr. Chas. Anderson known among the hunters of Western Pennsylvania as "the Bucktail Hunter," has announced himself as a candidate for the office of County Commissioner on Democratic ticket. Mr. Anderson deserves some reward at the hands of his party he always having been a hard worker for his party's success, ever since he has been old enough to vote and understand the cardinal principles of the Democratic party. He has been a laboring man all of his life, with the exception of the time he conducted the stage line this place and DuBois. From the laboring men the old buck hunter ought to draw enough notes to win a victory.

The many friends of Rev. Hawkins will be pleased to learn that he is convalescing and will soon be able to get around his parishioners again.

Curwensville certainly contributed her quota of soldier boys to swell the big parade at Clearfield Friday night. All returned home well pleased with their reception and treatment during their stay at the County seat.

Buy a Victory Liberty Bond and let your conscience rest knowing that you have performed a patriotic duty.

A birthday party was held at the home of Raymond Bloom last Thursday evening. A similar party was held at the home of Frank Leach the same evening.

The cake walk held in the Catholic church Saturday night proved to be a financial and social success.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bookhammer, of Altoona, spent Sunday at the home of Mrs. William Holden, South Walnut street.

A number of members of the local lodge of Red Men from this place went to Clearfield yesterday to attend the dedication of a service flag of that order. The services were held at the Driggs Theatre.

Thomas Dale, of Philadelphia, returned to the city yesterday after spending several days with his parents in this place with his parents, Squire and Mrs. Dale.

Harry Coppins Carnivl is booked for Curwensville on May 3-10. They come under the auspices of the Rescue Hose and Ladder company.

5 Reasons Why? There Should Be A Good Refrigerator In Every Home

- (1) Food in the home cannot be properly preserved without a refrigerator.
 - (2) Food that has deteriorated causes sickness often fatal.
 - (3) Millions are today starving for food, and an American can afford to waste it.
 - (4) A good refrigerator lessens the work of the housewife.
 - (5) The food that is spoiled and wasted every day for lack of a refrigerator, would soon be saved. Take the first opportunity of calling on our houseware department and let us talk the matter over.
- We have them in all sizes and styles at a price to suit every purse so that every family can have one suited to its needs. Prices from . . . $17.00 to $44.00 ($33.50 One Pictured)

POULTRY

INCREASE POULTRY AND EGGS

Few Essential Things Are to Be Constantly in Mind—Dispose of Surplus Cockerels.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The general features of poultry
husbandry, if adhered to by farmers
and farmers' wives, by city dwellers
who have enough space to keep a few
hens, and by poultry specialists of the country will result in a remarkable
increase of poultry and egg production. Only a few essential things are to be constantly borne in mind. First
in this list, perhaps, should come careful selection of breeding stock, in order to reproduce a larger percentage
of good types of profitable producers.
Next to that in importance is eddy
hatching. In order that pullets may be sufficiently mature to become good
fall and winter layers, the chicks must
be out of the nest as early as possible.
For at least two weeks after the
chicks are hatched mother hens
should be confined to brood coops to prevent fatality to the brood from ex-posure to wet and other dangers. From the time the chicks are old enough
to be immune from the dangers of wet grass and the like free
range is of first importance for both
growing stock and layers. Free
range, in the first place, stimulates growth. It also stimulates egg production, and it reduces very materially the quantity of dry feed necessary to keep the flock in condition.

Another matter of prime importance is the production of infertile
eggs. As soon as the breeding season
is over every poultry keeper, whether
general farmer, specialist or city
dweller, should see that the hens are kept separate from the cocks. If this practice is followed it will result in
the saving of millions of eggs that
would otherwise become spoiled, either in the hands of the producer or
before reaching the consumer.

When the chicks have reached a marketable age care should be exercised to dispose promptly of all surplus cockerels in order to conserve
feed. As early as possible such pullets and hens as are not profitable
producers should be culled out and sold. The greatest care should be exercised to see that profitable pul-
lets are kept as egg producers.
Throughout the year care should be
exercised to prevent the marketing
of all profitable hens of the general
purpose class. Hens of this kind

Flock of Chickens Like This Will Pay.
should never be sold until the end of
their second year, and hens of the Mediterranean or egg class should not
be sold until the end of their third laying year. A careful check should be kept, however, on hens, and every individual that does not show herself
a profitable producer should be sold
for meat.

BEST FEED FOR LAYING HENS

Mixture of Cracked Corn, Oats and
Barley Is Recommended—Exercise Is Important.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

A good mixture for laying hens is
four parts each of cracked corn and
oats and one part barley or wheat, if available, which should be scattered in
the litter. Provide four or five inches
of good, clean litter.

A dry mash composed of equal parts
of cornmeal, bran, middlings, ground oats and feed spray should be kept in hoppers to which the fowls have access at all times.

Plenty of exercise increases the egg
output.

Older, mature, sprouted oats,
cut clean and cut straw make excellent green feed for poultry.

When feed is given be sure that they are fresh and not starchy.

GOOD QUALITIES OF ROOSTER

More Apt to Be Carried to Females
Than Males—Hens Always
Take After Him.

Roosters have long been known for their ability to carry more than their share of the burden of the household. This is because in all natural life the male is the protector and the provider for the female and the young.

First—An expert rooster makes a valuable guard dog and his "clearing" and "driving" power is of great value to the farmer. A-25-11-11

BOY SCOUTS

(Conducted by National Council of the Boy Scouts of America.)

SCOUT AID ON "FOOL HILL"

Someone has said that the Boy Scout movement is the best thing ever invented to help get a boy over "Fool Hill." There is a time in a boy's life, and from twelve to eighteen years is the period, when "Fool Hill" generally makes its advent and is most conspicuous.

During this period scouting furnishes the guide posts. We all know that boys like to run in gangs. The scout troop fills the boy's natural desire for companionship.

Take such a gang or troop and divert its energy from breaking windows, robbing orchards, fighting other boys and similar mischief to swimming, first aid, boating, camping, hiking, scoutcraft and the like, and you are converting natural energy into a valuable asset, giving the boy a desire for useful information and making of him a potential citizen whose value to the country is beyond estimate.

DAN BEARD TO THE SCOUTS.

President Wilson has told the boy scouts to locate all the black walnut trees and also to save all the peach stones and nut shells we can, says Scout Commissioner Dan Beard. That is easy, but look here, boys, don't forget what the chief told you about planting nuts. November is the time to plant walnuts, hickory nuts and butternuts.

Let us emulate the example of dear old Johnny Appleseed, the old pioneer who planted apple trees all through the western wilderness of the Ohio valley. Johnny has monuments standing to him still in some of the apple trees which he planted a good many years ago.

We will have monuments standing for us in magnificent big black walnut trees, hickory nut trees and butternut trees which we are thoughtful enough to plant this autumn before all the big walnut trees are cut down and the plant exterminated in order to furnish gun stocks and propellers for our flying machines.

Don't forget now, boys, each scout should plant at least five black walnuts.

SIGN TALK FOR BOY SCOUTS.

Ernest Thompson Seton describes his new book "Sign Talk" as "a universal signal code without apparatus, for use in the army, navy, camping, hunting and daily life."

Resides giving 1,200 signs in use among the Plains Indians, Mr. Seton adds some of those used by the deaf in Europe and America, and also a great many that all of us use in everyday life, often without realizing it.

The American Plains Indian is undoubtedly the best sign talker the world knows today. Mr. Seton carried his manuscript from one Indian tribe to another, seeking always the best sign talkers among them, verifying his work and collecting new signs, always from first hand sources. Mr. Seton further interprets the sign talk with seven hundred drawings from his own pen. General Hugh L. Scott helped in the work of compilation.

TROOP MEET WITHOUT JOLTS.

Anyone who has driven over corduroy roads in a lumber wagon has observed that it is less comfortable than driving a high-class touring car over asphalt pavements.

A scoutmaster who has attempted to lead a poorly organized troop through a crudely planned meeting, hike, or camp, has had a jolting which he might have avoided by laying out his course with greater skill.

A troop meeting may be as full of bumps as a corduroy road or it may work as smoothly as the drive that flattened the St. Michel salient. It depends upon the plan and the man behind it.

BELGIAN SCOUTS REBUILDING.

The Boy Scouts of Belgium are working to help rebuild their stricken homes and cities. Robert Lutens, secretary of the Belgian Boy Scouts' organization, who reached an Atlantic port on a British liner, brought the story.

"There were 6,000 of the boys in our organization just before the war," he said. "Many were killed brutally by the Germans in that ghastly first month."

"They were shot down when they served as stretcher bearers, and they were shot on other occasions without the slightest provocation. We have got the survivors together and they are trained for the reconstruction work."

DOINGS OF THE BOY SCOUTS.

Forty boy scouts were employed at the government proving grounds at Camp Perry, near Clinton, O., all summer. The smaller boys were store boys, errand boys, etc.

In Springfield, Mass., the city had great difficulty, because of the labor shortage, in keeping leaves out of wells and sewer catch basins during rainy days, and suggested that the boy scouts, who have shown their public spirit frequently, would be of material assistance in this work.

The Speaker of the British House of Commons is obliged by custom to give seven official dinners each season to the members of Parliament.

JOYS OF PEACE.

How pleasant it is to go back to the little ways of peace. One can idle an hour or two away with a frivolous book and do it with a clear conscience, without a substratum of thought running through the mind that we should be actively up and going, engaged in one of the innumerable ways of winning the war. One can drift into a playhouse and watch a musical comedy's mild amblings and let the ear be titillated with light tunes without feeling that perhaps it is not just the thing to do in days of darkness and sorrow. The lights—the bright, white, reassuring lights—are there again before the theater, telling us that fuel economy is no longer imperative, that evenings after a full day's labor can again be spent idly and luxuriously, says Collier's Weekly. One can even invest an idle dollar in a box of chocolates because one feels that sugar saving is no longer quite so necessary. These, of course, are days of reaction. Soon we will return to the sternest things. We will worry about the league of nations and the freedom of the seas; we will be precipitated into the problems of reconstruction. But a little full has insidiously placed itself between the grave days that are gone and the busy days that are to come. And this little full, we find, is welcome and a thing to be cherished.

A very eloquent Frenchman, Ambassador Jusserand, has paid this handsome tribute to the American army in France: "A valiant army, the praise of which is on every lip; a youthful, undisciplined, cheerful army, whose every soldier is welcome in castle or hut, and is offered just as heartily the best cake or the last crust; an immense army that grows ceaselessly—month after month you sent over double the number of men Napoleon had at Waterloo. Many French names written on your map recall our presence here at the time of your fight for independence, chief among them that of Lafayette. Many American names will in aftertime recall the splendid part you are taking in the deliverance of France and of the world."

At one time in Switzerland eggs were used as money and dried cod were used for the same purpose in Newfoundland.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Gray hair, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound tonight and you'll be delighted with your youthful appearance within a few days.

For Burning Eczema

Greasy salves and ointments should not be applied to the skin. Zemo is wanted. From any druggist for 35c, or $1.00 for large size, get a bottle of Zemo. When applied as directed it effectively removes eczema, quickly stops itching, and heals skin troubles, also sores, burns, wounds and chafing. It penetrates, cleanses and soothes. Zemo is a clean, dependable and inexpensive antiseptic liquid. Try it, as we believe nothing you have ever used is as effective and satisfying.

SCOUTS A NATIONAL FACTOR.

"War has certainly brought to the boy scout movement great opportunities," says Milton A. McRae of San Diego, Cal. "We have had some loss, but I believe a much greater gain, and the publicity that the movement is receiving in America is a wonderful asset, and really beyond comprehension."

"I marched for two and a half miles in a great parade at the head of the San Diego council and the boy scouts, and I am certain that I did not misinterpret the cheers and plaudits of the thousands of spectators who lined the streets while the procession passed by. The boy scout movement is a factor in this nation."

Arthur Miller, of Drexel Hill a suburb of Philadelphia says he is a real optimist now, and that his outlook on life is brighter than ever. "I suffered from stomach trouble. The gas would accumulate around my liver and heart. Occasionally I would have sharp twinges of rheumatism in the joints and muscles of my legs and shoulders. There was considerable belching of gas and a water brash. A sour, acid stomach manifested itself in an ugly, dark brown taste like bile I bought Tanlac because I heard about the good it did others. Tanlac helped me from the start."

AMERICA'S IMMORTALS

FREDERICK M. LINTON, First Lieutenant, 104th Infantry.

Conspicuous gallantry in action near Marechalville, France, September 25 and 26 won the Distinguished Service Cross for Lieutenant Linton. He volunteered and carried a message from his line to the rear at a time when a heavy barrage and terrific machine gun fire of the enemy had made access almost impossible. When returning he brought up with him a platoon of reinforcements and led them through the bombardment area, knowing that the town of Marechalville was in the hands of the enemy, he unhesitatingly assumed the command of a patrol and led it in a counter-attack against the town, recapturing it, and after being wounded retained control and held his ground until his platoon was rescued under cover of darkness. It was while defending his position that he received a second and fatal wound.

SAGE TEA DANDY TO DARKEN HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost overnight if you'll get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Gray hair, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound tonight and you'll be delighted with your youthful appearance within a few days.

CABINET

Not what happened but the who that took what happened, determined the experience. Not what we have, but do, makes our sum of joy or sorrow. Most of us can if we choose make this world a palace of a prison.

HURRY-UP DISHES

The housekeeper who keeps a list of dishes that may be quickly prepared for a sudden emergency, one who is well stored or furnished by a large company and who is welcome in much more time if in the case of the head of the household.

able menu is stored. The food served will depend upon the time of day. If it is dinner a more elaborate menu will be needed than for a luncheon or supper.

Try not to use dishes for these occasions for the daily menu, but keep them just for the emergency. Provided you are sure of proper results, it is fatal to one's peace of mind to experiment on an unusual dish. Keep in your closet or on the emergency shelf such foods as canned codfish, sardines, canned salmon, tuna, crab and clams, canned tomatoes, soup, grated cheese, salad dressing, preserves, dates, nuts and marshmallows. This list could be enlarged indefinitely and other attractive things may be added.

An omelet is a dish generally well liked; it may be preceded by a cream of tomato soup, which is prepared and followed by a potato salad if one is fortunate enough to have a few cold potatoes on hand. If not, cook a few, cut in dice and serve in a cream sauce. A cup of tea with a cookie or piece of cake and a dish of preserves for dessert will make a most satisfying meal.

The canned soup, of course, is quickly reheated and saves preparing one dish; a salad of the solid part of the can of tomatoes with a bit of salmon or tuna will make a salad with a good dressing. A bit of pineapple with marshmallows and whipped cream with a tablespoon of most delicious sweet salad dressing may be served with wafers, or a bit of cocoa or coffee as a dessert.

A pretty table, with a few cooked dishes and a heavy sauce will make a feast for any guest.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to keep young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no other way. A sallow complexion—dark circles under your eyes—plagues—these are the signs of a clogged liver and bowels. Your doctor will tell you that 90 per cent of all sickness comes from a clogged liver and bowels.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in action yet always effective. They are about the exuberance of youth, natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by keeping the liver and bowels clean and free.

You will know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets by their olive color. 25c per box. All druggists.

The WOMEN have Always Helped— God Bless Them!

We reverence the spirit of America's womanhood. The Bonds they bought were precious, sacred things to them. They felt that every Bond was silent, material proof that they could fight too.

And how they have kept the faith! How they have given their boys, their husbands, their brothers!

How they have sold Bonds and how they have bought them!

And now that the Victory Liberty Loan has come, they will work and save once more.

And let every last man stand shoulder to shoulder with these women and see that the Victory debt is paid.

THE CLEARFIELD PROGRESS

The Coming World Ruler

By REV. B. B. SUTCLIFFE
Extension Department, Moody Bible
Institute, Chicago

TEXT—The government shall be upon
his shoulder.—Isa. 9:6.

The One mentioned in the text is none other than the coming Prince of Peace, the King of kings and the Lord of lords, Jesus Christ, who is to be the ruler of this world and who will reign as King. The ancient idea that a king was the patriarchal father, friend and guardian of his people pertains to this Coming King. There are four marks of his kingship.

I.—He has absolute authority. There is no such thing as limited monarchy, much less democracy, about the kingship of this Coming One. He will be no mere figurehead, as some of the kings of our day. The second chapter of this prophet Isaiah declares he will judge between the nations. All international questions will in his day be referred to him and from his decisions there will be no appeal. This is in accord with the ancient idea of kingship, but with the difference that where other kings were subject to error and made mistakes there will be no errors or mistakes in the exercise of authority by the Prince of Peace. Ruling in the supreme authority given him by God and ruling with the glory of God as the one motive of all his acts, there will come under this beneficent king the full blessedness on earth for which man has waited so long.

II.—He will have supreme power. There have been and there are today kings who have authority but lack the power to exercise it. This Coming One will have all power for the full and proper exercise of his authority. None will be able to turn him aside from his decrees, nor will any be able to make his decrees null and void. Even some who will be disposed to resist his authority will, because of his power, bow to his decrees. Ruling as he will, wholly for the glory of God, means that all selfish exercise of power will be done away, and those who would feather their own nests by oppression will find their occupation gone. This would cause war to be heard were it not that this ruler has all power to enforce his decrees. As all his decrees are calculated to bring supreme blessing to all men it is little wonder that his coming is awaited by many with eagerness and delight.

III.—He will provide certain protection. The ancient king was charged with the guardianship of his people, who looked to him to guard them from their enemies. This Coming King will afford such protection for his own that none will make them afraid, but all will dwell in security and peace. In his day every man will dwell under his own vine and fig tree, no oppression of the weak will be found, and no unfair advantage whereby one may grow rich at the expense of another will be allowed throughout the world. Men will then have a chance to come to his full development, with no fear of sudden destruction of himself or of his plans. There will be protection from wars and rumors of war, protection from the criminal and the lawless, and protection from all evil save only that which individual men and women will desire to carry within themselves. Certain protection will be afforded by the unlimited power and absolute authority of the Coming King against all the machinations of evil and the wickedness of men.

IV.—He will bring full provision for his people. The ancient king was looked to by his people to provide all necessary provision, and his people's needs were his sacred charge. Like a father he was supposed to provide for his own people as though they were his children. So this One who is coming will provide for his own all things required to make contentment the rule throughout the world. In his reign the waste places will bring forth, the wilderness will blossom as the rose and the dry lands will become fruitful fields. The cry of hunger will never be heard and famine will only be remembered as a nightmare of days gone by. With fullness of bread there will be the full knowledge of the Lord, for his knowledge will cover the earth as the waters cover the sea.

In the midst of all the strife and suffering of today the above sounds like a dream impossible of fulfillment. But the word of the Lord has declared it, and his word is settled forever in heaven. Every jot and every tittle of what he has written is sure of full realization, and the signs of the times give every encouragement that the coming of the Great King is not far off. In the midst of the distress of nations and the fear of what is coming on the earth, it is well to comfort our hearts with the assurance that in God's good time he will bring forth his king, who will give to all the tangled threads of life and all the chaotic conditions of the world a divine order and a blessed rule for all peoples.

MANY CASES OF RHEUMATISM NOW

Says We Must Keep Feet Dry.
Avoid Exposure and Eat Less Meat

Stay off the damp ground, avoid exposure, keep feet dry, eat less meat, drink lots of water and above all take a spoonful of salts occasionally to keep down uric acid. Rheumatism is caused by poisonous toxin, called uric acid, which is generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood and sent out in the urine. The pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles causing stiffness, soreness and pain, called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action thus ridding the blood of these impurities. Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.

Nearly one hundred and fifty Odd Fellows attended the M. E. church Sunday forenoon and listened to a specially prepared sermon for them by Rev. Biddle. Once a year this body attends church in a body.

Mr. J. G. Fullerton underwent a successful operation at the McGirk Sanitarium Philipsburg last Thursday.

Mrs. Walter Fullerton was a Clearfield visitor yesterday.

Chief Clark picked up a young colored girl Saturday for passing raised bills on several of our merchants. She caught several of them but in making good the money she obtained fraudulently she was released from custody and allowed to depart.

Mr. Chas. Anderson known among the hunters of Western Pennsylvania as "the Bucktail Hunter," has announced himself as a candidate for the office of County Commissioner on Democratic ticket. Mr. Anderson deserves some reward at the hands of his party he always having been a hard worker for his party's success, ever since he has been old enough to vote and understand the cardinal principles of the Democratic party. He has been a laboring man all of his life, with the exception of the time he conducted the stage line this place and DuBois. From the laboring men the old buck hunter ought to draw enough notes to win a victory.

The many friends of Rev. Hawkins will be pleased to learn that he is convalescing and will soon be able to get around his parishioners again.

Curwensville certainly contributed her quota of soldier boys to swell the big parade at Clearfield Friday night. All returned home well pleased with their reception and treatment during their stay at the County seat.

Buy a Victory Liberty Bond and let your conscience rest knowing that you have performed a patriotic duty.

A birthday party was held at the home of Raymond Bloom last Thursday evening. A similar party was held at the home of Frank Leach the same evening.

The cake walk held in the Catholic church Saturday night proved to be a financial and social success.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bookhammer, of Altoona, spent Sunday at the home of Mrs. William Holden, South Walnut street.

A number of members of the local lodge of Red Men from this place went to Clearfield yesterday to attend the dedication of a service flag of that order. The services were held at the Driggs Theatre.

Thomas Dale, of Philadelphia, returned to the city yesterday after spending several days with his parents in this place with his parents, Squire and Mrs. Dale.

Harry Coppins Carnivl is booked for Curwensville on May 3-10. They come under the auspices of the Rescue Hose and Ladder company.

5 Reasons Why? There Should Be A Good Refrigerator In Every Home

- (1) Food in the home cannot be properly preserved without a refrigerator.
- (2) Food that has deteriorated causes sickness often fatal.
- (3) Millions are today starving for food, and an American can afford to waste it.
- (4) A good refrigerator lessens the work of the housewife.
- (5) The food that is spoiled and wasted every day for lack of a refrigerator, would soon be saved. Take the first opportunity of calling on our houseware department and let us talk the matter over.

We have them in all sizes and styles at a price to suit every purse so that every family can have one suited to its needs. Prices from . . . $17.00 to $44.00 ($33.50 One Pictured)

POULTRY

INCREASE POULTRY AND EGGS

Few Essential Things Are to Be Constantly in Mind—Dispose of Surplus Cockerels.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The general features of poultry
husbandry, if adhered to by farmers
and farmers' wives, by city dwellers
who have enough space to keep a few
hens, and by poultry specialists of the
country will result in a remarkable
increase of poultry and egg production. Only a few essential things are
to be constantly borne in mind. First
in this list, perhaps, should come careful selection of breeding stock, in order to reproduce a larger percentage
of good types of profitable producers.
Next to that in importance is eddy
hatching. In order that pullets may
be sufficiently mature to become good
fall and winter layers, the chicks must
be out of the nest as early as possible.
For at least two weeks after the
chicks are hatched mother hens
should be confined to brood coops to
prevent fatality to the brood from ex-posure to wet and other dangers. From
the time the chicks are old enough
to be immune from the dangers of wet grass and the like free
range is of first importance for both
growing stock and layers. Free
range, in the first place, stimulates
growth. It also stimulates egg production, and it reduces very materially the quantity of dry feed necessary to keep the flock in condition.

Another matter of prime importance is the production of infertile
eggs. As soon as the breeding season
is over every poultry keeper, whether
general farmer, specialist or city
dweller, should see that the hens are
kept separate from the cocks. If this practice is followed it will result in
the saving of millions of eggs that
would otherwise become spoiled, either in the hands of the producer or
before reaching the consumer.

When the chicks have reached a
marketable age care should be exercised to dispose promptly of all sur-
plus cockerels in order to conserve
feed. As early as possible such pul-
lets and hens as are not profitable
producers should be culled out and
sold. The greatest care should be exercised to see that profitable pul-
lets are kept as egg producers.
Throughout the year care should be
exercised to prevent the marketing
of all profitable hens of the general
purpose class. Hens of this kind

Flock of Chickens Like This Will Pay.

should never be sold until the end of
their second year, and hens of the Mediterranean or egg class should not
be sold until the end of their third
laying year. A careful check should be kept, however, on hens, and every
individual that does not show herself
a profitable producer should be sold
for meat.

BEST FEED FOR LAYING HENS

Mixture of Cracked Corn, Oats and
Barley Is Recommended—Exercise Is Important.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

A good mixture for laying hens is
four parts each of cracked corn and
oats and one part barley or wheat, if
available, which should be scattered in
the litter. Provide four or five inches
of good, clean litter.

A dry mash composed of equal parts
of cornmeal, bran, middlings, ground oats and feed scrap should be kept in hoppers to which the fowls have access at all times.

Plenty of exercise increases the egg
output.

Older, mature, sprouted oats,
cut clean and put in a mash excellent for feeding.

When feed is given be sure that they are getting it and not stony.

GOOD QUALITIES OF ROOSTER

More Apt to Be Carried to Females
Than Males—Hens Always
Take After Him.

Roosters have long been known
for their ability to carry their females. This is because of the fact that the rooster is the only male of the species that is able to carry the female on his back and hold her in position.

Progress on a regular basis on Thursday and Friday. Received if returned

ATLANTIC POLARINE

ONE thousand—fifteen hundred—two thousand—times a minute the piston is driven up and down in the cylinders. There are 2000 chances per minute for a poor oil to break down—to cause power loss—to let the cylinder walls get cut or scored.

You don't take a chance with Atlantic Motor Oils. Under every condition of speed they cushion every moving part. The big users have proved this. Experts specify Atlantic.
For your motor's sake—ask for Atlantic
